Forum called Citizens discuss controversy

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Petitions calling for the removal of all seven Granite City School Board members are expected to be circulated at a June 12 meeting in the Township Hall.

Concerned over a growing controversy among school board members, citizens plan to meet at the hall at 7 p.m. and discuss their options.

"We won't stop there," said organizer Dave Schermer. "A couple of years ago, a similar group, with the same name, organized in Madison. Eventually, they helped elect a new mayor."

Schermer called the meeting for Granite City Concerned Citizens.

Partney seeks state intervention

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A formal complaint against Community Unit District 9 School Board actions has been lodged with State Superintendent of Education Ted Sanders.

In a letter to Elam Hertzler, an assistant to Sanders, board member David Partney alleges flagrant violations of the Illinois Open Meetings Act and unethical hiring practices.

Partney asked the state to attend a June 12 meeting between

(See INTERVENTION, Page 13A)

The Press-Record/Journal has learned the group intends to circulate petitions calling for recall of board members at that time.

Schermer invites the public to attend the meeting.

At the June 3 board meeting at least one person asked for the board's resignation.

"The best thing for this board is to resign and let the state run the district until we can elect seven new board members," said Mack Johnson. Johnson helped campaign for passage of a 1984 school bond issue that helped the district emerge from a $7.6 million debt.

District 9 board members have scheduled a meeting for the same night in district offices at 20th and Adams streets to discuss superintendent-board relations.

At its June 3 meeting the board indicated the June 12 meeting would be closed to the public. Attending that meeting will be board members and attorneys. Superintendent Max Redmond and his attorney.

"If the board was interested in what the public thinks, it would cancel that meeting and attend the public forum," said board member David Partney. "I'd like to go."

Reviews and previews

School board hears public

School board members reacted to questions posed by citizens at their June 3 meeting. Board member Monroe Worthen told an audience of more than 140 that the school board had gone along with all but 10 of 240 recommendations made by the school superintendent. Most of those recommendations were to accept low bids to specifications. District 9 records show the 10 recommendations not accepted dealt primarily with personnel and staffing needs.

Well agreement signed

An agreement for the operation of a deep well was signed June 3 by Mayor Von Deo Cruse, Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs Sr. and Metro East Sanitary District Director Walter Greathouse. The well is expected to alleviate some underground water seepage problems north of the Cloverview residential district.

Madison studies cost cuts

Overspending in departments and increased insurance liability costs will result in a projected deficit of $340,000 at the end of the fiscal year, said Alderman William Gushleff. Gushleff feels the city's financial outlook is bleak. In four years it could face a $1 million deficit, he said.

Chief judge re-elected

Chief Judge Philip J. Rarick has been re-elected as chief judge of the 3rd Judicial Circuit, which includes Madison and Bond Counties.

Judge Rarick was born and raised in Collinsville, where he attended St. Peter and Paul School and Collinsville High School. He graduated from Southern Illinois University and received his legal education at St. Louis University.

He was admitted to the Illinois bar and federal bar in 1966 and was engaged in private practice until appointment as a judge in 1975.

During his years of private practice, Rarick also served as an assistant state's attorney, city attorney and township attorney in Collinsville, and legal counsel for Jarvis Township.

Rarick's past judicial assignments have included serving as chief associate judge and as chief judge of the criminal felony division. He is a member of the state and local bar associations.

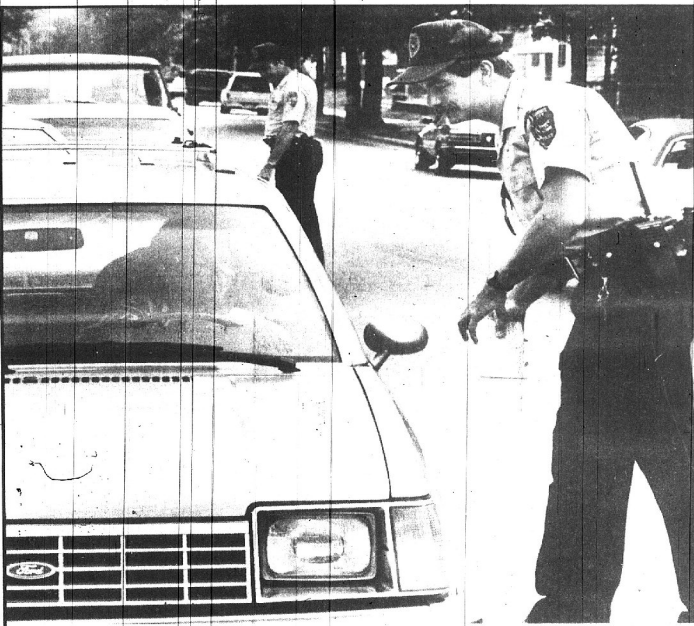

Judge Rarick is married to Janet Arnovitz Rarick, daughter of Mrs. E.M. Arnovitz of Granite City and the late Dr. E.M. Arnovitz.

Planning Commission sets annual meeting

The Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission will meet on Thursday, June 19, at the Scott Air Force Base Golf Course Clubhouse.

The executive committee will meet at 5:45 p.m. and the annual commission meeting is set for a 7:15 dinner and 8 p.m. business session.

Lon Smith is president. The executive committee includes Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagauer and Madison Mayor John Bellico.

Sticker check

CITY AUTO LICENSES are checked for Monday afternoon on Washington Avenue at 23rd Street. It was the first day of the citywide crackdown on city motorists not displaying the required decal on their autos. Probationary patrolman Dennis Shemwell, foreground, and Sgt. Steve Willard check windshields for the decals. Two roadblocks Monday netted 31 violators who will be fined $25 and must pay $10 for the city sticker, double the previously reduced price.

50 years ago

Thursday, June 11, 1936
City Comptroller Carroll Bright Tuesday disagreed with Mayor Art Jennings over street department budget estimates. Jennings told the council last week the street department couldn't keep up with street repairs due to budget cutbacks. Bright told the council the budget had been cut only $300 last year. Controversy arose over the condition of city streets.

Tell it like it is

Q: Should the city award contracts for services without first seeking competitive bids? An example of this process was seen recently when the city awarded a $700,000 contract to Laidlaw Waste Systems Inc. without first seeking bids.

Diane Huniak

"My husband is in sales. They always have to send out for bids. That seems to be the fairest way of doing things." - Granite City

Gerald Hunt

"I think they ought to have competitive bids." - Granite City

Mary Newman

Sarah Oglesby

"The city should get the cheapest prices it can." - Granite City

NEXT WEEK: Can Granite City attract new industry and residents while the school system is subject to controversy?

To register your answer, phone 452-0222 between 5:30 p.m. and 8 a.m. Leave your name, hometown and telephone number for verification purposes.

Quote of the week

"I don't believe we have a hysterical crowd here tonight. I believe you (the crowd) are a concerned group. I think we have the potential to be the best School Board, with the best superintendent in Illinois," said board member Jolene Travis-Terrell at a June 3 meeting of the school board. The superintendent's future may be decided at a special board meeting June 12.

Tip of the hat

After 36 years in education, Agnes Fryntzko is retiring this year. She was principal at Parkview Elementary for 20 years. Fryntzko began her career with District 9 schools as a primary teacher at Nameoki, Niedringhaus and Frohardt schools. She has been nominated for a state "Those Who Excel" award. The Parkview PTA established a scholarship, in her honor, for graduating seniors entering the field of education. Those wishing to honor Fryntzko can send contributions to the Agnes Fryntzko Scholarship Fund at Central Bank of Granite City.

City architecture highlighted

Architecture has been an important part of this community since its very beginning, so starting with this issue a new feature will focus on the architecture in the area.

A closeup of a particularly interesting feature of a building or structure will be on Page One for you, the reader, to guess what building the detail is from and where it is located.

On a following page in the same issue, a normal view of the building or structure will be published with some historical facts about it, if any are available.

The buildings will be from all parts of the Quad-City Area and are not limited to just older structures.

Hartigan wins case for mentally disabled

The U.S. Supreme Court has upheld lower court rulings that the Social Security Administration violated the Social Security Act by ending the benefits of tens of thousands of mentally disabled persons.

Illinois Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan this week praised the decision. He entered the case in January after the SSA appealed New York state and appellate court decisions that found the SSA's policies improper.

HARTIGAN FILED a "friend of the court" brief on behalf of Illinois and 23 other states.

His "amicus" brief said the SSA's "warranted terminations," which began in 1980 and 1981, have added millions of dollars in costs to each state's General Assistance Fund and $1.6 billion to $3 billion for assistance programs by state and local governments nationwide.

In 1984, Illinois spent an added $10,900,000 for persons whose federal disability programs had been halted.

The figure covers only two state programs and does not include many other affected programs and the costs shouldered by local governments.

HIS BRIEF EXPLAINED that not only did mentally disabled persons lose their cash grants but also their Medicare coverage.

Since many had no other income, they were forced to seek state and local forms of aid for shelter, food, medical care and other necessities of life, Hartigan said.

"Many of the claimants suffered rehospitalization, suicide, family breakups and the loss of their homes due to SSA's policies," the Illinoisan said.

"THESE TRAGEDIES often caused a 'spill-over' effect when families were separated and spouse and children filed additional Aid to Families with Dependent Children applications."

Speaking for all the amici states, Hartigan asked the court to require the SSA to review the cases of all claimants adversely affected by the policy.

The SSA in its appeal to the Supreme Court had sought to limit the number of persons to be restored to federal benefits.

THE HIGH COURT rejected the SSA arguments.

Writing for the unanimous court, Justice Lewis Powell said, (See DISABLED, Page 13A)

Kennedy's law would help Jackie Onassis

WASHINGTON — Legislation introduced by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., to settle a 15-year-old Indian land claim could benefit his sister-in-law, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, and her neighbors on the resort island of Martha's Vineyard.

The bill would appropriate $1.5 million of federal funds (Massachusetts would add an equal amount) to buy back some acreage in the township of Gay Head that was once part of a tribal reservation and give it to the Wampanoag Indians to develop. The land had been sold off by the Indians' ancestors after Massachusetts carved the island into townships in 1870 and allowed non-Indians to buy land.

In return for the federal and state money, Wampanoag leaders have agreed to drop their lawsuit laying claim to 238 acres around Gay Head, a promontory on the western tip of Martha's Vineyard. This would remove any cloud on the title of land owned by Onassis and her neighbors.

Weekly Special

Jack Anderson & Joseph Spear
United Features

But the negotiated settlement that Kennedy's bill would ratify has bitterly divided the Wampanoag. Opponents of the settlement claim to represent 100 to 170 Wampanoags, about half the tribe, but the tribal leaders claim the decisions make up no more than 20 percent.

Dissenters charge that the settlement is a bad one for the Indians, and the Wampanoag's attorney, Henry Sockbeson of the Native American Rights Fund, agrees. But he insists it was the best the Indians could get.

That's because the Bureau of Indian Affairs several years ago questioned whether the Wampanoags were a bona fide Indian tribe entitled to federal protection. Wampanoag leaders decided that their best bet was to negotiate a settlement out of court in case the bureau's decision was overturned. The decision is expected this month.

But the Bureau of Indian Affairs recently short-circuited the Wampanoags' prudent strategy by announcing that it would ask President Reagan to veto any bill that would give the Indians federal money unless they gain official recognition. The bureau contends that the federal government should not be paying off Indians who cannot prove their heritage.

All this means the Wampanoags may have negotiated away important aboriginal rights for nothing, if the Indian Bureau decides against them, they come up empty-handed regardless of the agreed-upon settlement. Joan Patada, a dissident leader, blames the Native American Rights Fund for the poor settlement.

She told our associate Stewart Harris she believes Kennedy's judgment was befogged by his special relationship with his sister-in-law and her two children by President Kennedy. Onassis' 329-acre estate at Gay Head could be endangered by the Wampanoags' land claim.

Footnote: Kennedy apparently has not violated Senate ethics by introducing the legislation; the rules forbid proposing bills that would benefit "only" senators or their immediate families. The Kennedy bill would also benefit neighboring property owners by removing the cloud on their land titles.

FUDDLE FACTORY: Acting in its role as designated custodian of the nation's priceless historical documents, the General Services Administration recently attempted to get White House permission to move the documents out of Washington during a government readiness exercise. Permission was refused. As the outbreak of mock hostilities loomed closer, the GSA once again sought approval to move the documents. No, said the White House. Even if the enemy were steaming up the Potomac, the national treasures should remain where they are. The apparent reason: Soviet spies might report the removal and lead the Kremlin to think a U.S. first strike was imminent — and strike first instead.

Thanks to a bureaucratic foul-up, the State Department printed too few of its new internal telephone books, and they have assumed a value somewhat akin to blue diamonds. The shortage has been aggravated by a recent major change in departmental phone numbers. The situation has become so drastic that a handful of undistributed directories has been put under lock and key in case a big wheel needs one. As might be expected in this hotbed of Kremlinology, there are conspiracy theorists who claim a deliberate plot is afoot to suppress information.

DIPLOMATIC DIGEST: Russian officials have taken steps to ensure that Samantha Smith will not be forgotten. She was the plucky teenager who wrote then-Soviet leader Yuri Andropov in 1983 and later visited the Soviet Union and who died in an air crash last fall. The Soviets have named a large Siberian diamond and a new variety of violets after her. And they may also construct a Samantha Smith memorial at the Artek youth camp in the Crimea.

TWO CENTS' WORTH: We would not like to be thought of as discrediting Nixon later, but we have a difficult time forgetting how the former president tramped on the Constitution. And it frankly bothers us when such a prestigious publication as Newsweek features Richard Nixon on its cover and proclaims "He's Back." We'd suggest a more proper title should have been: "The Undicted Co-Conspirator is Back."

Credit card interest

Are you getting mugged every month?

Inflation is in reverse; prices actually going down. The prime lending rate is 8.5 percent.

How come your credit card company is charging you interest at an average rate of almost 19 percent? Self-government without self-discipline won't work. Excesses inevitably, eventually are their own undoing.

If credit card companies do not voluntarily respect you enough to play fair, they will be forced to.

Why invite further government snooping, further legislative regulation?

If government has to put a lid on a selfish few, free enterprise will be that much less free for everybody.

Then some businessmen will loudly beat their breasts and condemn government bureaucracy for its "anti-business bias."

This administration, of all administrations, wants to get business, but it cannot legitimize pickpockets.

There is a new organization in

Aggressive farm export effort needed

To the editor: Sharp declines in the value of the dollar and lower cash prices for American farm commodities present a clear opportunity to turn farm export markets around. But the USDA (U.S. Department of Agriculture) and Congress need to use extra effort now to seize the opportunity presented by these new conditions.

In December, Congress approved a farm bill with the most comprehensive export title in history. But the positive efforts of these well-intentioned proposals are not yet visible.

In fact, government reports released in May show the volume of corn exports for this marketing year down one-third from last year's depressed levels.

Farm Bureau leaders have been strong supporters of re-establishing a competitive edge in export markets by lowering loan rates. And the organization has fought hard for reduced federal deficits and lower interest rates and stronger currencies for our trading partners.

Farmers have felt for some time that these were all necessary precursors to an upturn in exports. Today, progress on reducing federal deficits seems possible, interest rates are significantly lower for many borrowers, and the value of the dollar has fallen by more than one-third relative to other major currencies.

These positive changes in the export climate present a window of opportunity for top Washington officials. Now is the time for aggressive action making use of the farm bill's export title to provide additional incentive to our customers around the world.

The programs and authority are in place to boost exports. Now is the time to use them.

Time is running out. Without aggressive export promotion this year, farmers and grain elevators will simply run out of grain storage in some parts of the Corn Belt this fall.

In addition, farmers and commercial elevators may respond to the impending storage crisis by constructing new facilities — bins and warehouses that can only serve in the future to encourage more long-term storage rather than commercial sales.

The USDA must use existing export programs aggressively and use them now. Failure to do so will only lead to further weakness in farm export sales and continued pressure on storage facilities.

Funds needed for animal protection

To the editor:

I work at the APA (Association for the Protection of Animals) and have for years. On Monday, Memorial Day, I found a young brown Labrador trying to get into my door. He was wet and scared of the thunder.

One look told me he was someone's good dog. He had a red collar but no tags. I know the dogs on my block and didn't recognize him.

Not having a secure enough fence for a dog, I took him to the shelter. There really wasn't an open pen, but we made room because I said we would take him back after 10 days if the owner didn't claim him. My husband would have loved to have had him.

Thursday morning the owner called and we told him we had his dog. He came running out to pick him up, but explained he hadn't brought any money because he was so excited about getting his dog back. He asked how much he owed and we told him $2 a day, which did not cover what the dog ate.

That night in the Press-Record he offered a $50 reward for his dog, no questions asked. Friday he did return to the shelter and gave us the $6 and a small bag of dog food. No reward.

When I stopped by his house to tell him I thought it was unfair, not giving the reward money to the APA, he shook his head, tapped his foot and looked away like I had my nerve coming there like I did.

His only reply was, "Well, all she said I owed was $6, plus I gave a five-pound bag of dog food, too."

My point with this letter is, without donations, the APA couldn't exist, and if the APA hadn't existed that day, I would have had to let the dog go to run the street and be hit by a car or be picked up by someone who might not have returned him. As it turned ed out, the dog was worth $275, house broken, and partially trained — a real find.

The APA is not just another service provided by your tax dollars. We exist on donated time and money and I, for one, don't appreciate people taking the time and money I donate for Granite City.

He didn't just cheat the APA out of $50, he cheated me as well, because that means I have to work that much harder to bring in another $50.

I would like to say, if the dog ever gets out again and I get my hands on him, I'll return him to his owner, reward or no. I have a conscience and am not unethical. That's why I take the time to do this kind of work.

Law to close loophole

To the editor: Strong lobbying efforts by the powerful tobacco industry led May 22 to the defeat of my legislation to close a state tax loophole that exists on tobacco products other than cigarettes.

Closing this loophole would have generated as much as $10 million in new state revenues to support programs and services.

It would also have guaranteed a funding source for the state's Domestic Violence and Shelter Fund, since 60 percent of the revenues generated by this proposal would have been transferred to support this very important program.

While there are currently state and local taxes on cigarettes, other tobacco products — such as chewing tobacco and snuff, known as smokeless tobacco, and cigars and pipe tobacco — escape state taxation.

Senate Bill 1912 would have taxed current exempt tobacco products at 20 percent of their wholesale price, making the tax roughly equal to the state tax on cigarettes.

In addition to generating much-needed state revenues, there was also a question of fairness involved with this proposal.

Buckling up Auto deaths down in state

Is "buckling up" working?
Yes, Lois Robinson said this week. She is executive director of the Illinois Coalition for Safety Belt Use.

"Since July 1, 1985, when the seatbelt use law was enacted, there have been 864 automobile occupant fatalities, compared to a five-year average of 982 for the same period," she said. "Based on this average, the belt law already has helped save 98 lives since it went into effect."

THE DECREASE in deaths is occurring although Illinois motorists are driving more miles and are involved in more accidents than in previous years, she said.

In May 1986, there were 84 occupant fatalities, compared to 94 in May 1985.

Illinois Department of Transportation statistics show the number of traffic fatalities per 100 million miles traveled has been declining.

IN 1980, there were 3.1 fatalities for each 100 million miles of auto travel; by 1985, this decreased to 2.2 fatalities.

She repeated her call to Illinois drivers and passengers to buckle their safety belts / to comply with the law and to achieve even greater savings in lives.

Group will see summer solstice sunrise June 22

Quad-Citians can welcome the first day of summer at Cahokia Mounds Historic Site by participating in a Summer Solstice sunrise ceremony Sunday, June 22, at Woodhenge.

Woodhenge is a sunrise calendar system used by the prehistoric residents of Cahokia Mounds to determine important dates and the changing seasons.

The calendar, which the Indians built about 1000 A.D., has been reconstructed for the public to experience the calendar's function as the Indians did long ago.

Viewers of the Summer Solstice will stand in the center of a 410-foot-diameter circle and greet the sun rising in the east.

The sun is scheduled to rise at 5:35 a.m. Bill Iseninger, site ar-chaepologist, will begin the sunrise program at 5:25 a.m. with an explanation of Woodhenge and its use. A continental breakfast will be served following the sunrise.

The Cahokia Mounds Museum can be called at 344-5288. Cahokia Mounds Historic Site is located 8 miles northeast of downtown St. Louis near Collinsville at 7850 Collinsville Road.

Opera express bus route here on Fridays

Bi-State express bus service to the Muni Opera from Alton, Wood River, Granite City, Madison and Venice will be funded again this year by the Madison County Transit District.

The service will be provided each Friday throughout the Muni season, departing Broadway and Market in Alton at 6:30 p.m., and the fare will be $1 each way for all passengers. Passes and transfers are not valid.

Advance reservations are requested, to ensure that the proper number of buses are on hand to carry the varying numbers of passengers to each performance.

The phone numbers are 231-2345 in St. Louis, 254-0823 in Alton or Wood River, or 875-4144 for Collinsville, Granite City, Madison or Venice.

The route will be the same as last year. It begins at Broadway and Market in Alton, proceeds east on Broadway to Illinois 3, to Eastgate Shopping Center (makes a loop through the shopping center), to 3, to Illinois 143 to Wood River, to Ferguson, to Central, to Illinois 111, to Chain of Rocks Road, to Illinois 203, to Nameoki Road, to Nameoki Village Shopping Center (makes a loop through the shopping center), to Nameoki Road, to Madison Avenue, to Broadway, to Main Street, Venice.

It then crosses the McKinley Bridge and proceeds to the Opera via Missouri 40.

The bus leaves Eastgate at 6:42 p.m., Ferguson and Central at 6:53. Nameoki Village Shopping Center at 7:12, and Main and Broadway at 7:20, and arrives at the Muni at 7:44 p.m.

The Muni Opera Express dates of operation and shows follow: June 20, "2nd Street"; June 27, "Singin' in the Rain"; July 11, "Swan Lake"; July 18, "Showboat"; July 25, "La Cage Aux Folles"; Aug. 1, "Pippin"; Aug. 8, "Shenandoah"; Aug. 15, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes"; and Aug. 22, "Joseph and The Technicolor Dreamcoat."

Illinois is attracting tourists from around the world

By Sam W. Wolf
State Representative

This is the time of year when many families begin the process of deciding where they should spend their summer vacations. Places like Florida, Colorado and California are likely to find their way into consideration.

One option, however, that is too often overlooked by prospective vacationers is Illinois. Unfortunately, many Illinoisans don't realize that a popular vacation spot is in their own back yards. Illinois has long been a summer vacation favorite. The Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs projects that over 29 million people will visit our state this year.

These visitors will spend an estimated $7 billion during their stay. Tourism is a strong and growing industry in our state.

Currently, over 125,000 Illinois jobs depend on travel to and within the state and most experts believe this number will grow in the next several years. The potential of the tourism industry in Illinois is limitless.

Within the boundaries of our state, one can find attractions to satisfy every vacationer's needs.

For those who seek secluded areas with natural beauty, we have the Shawnee National Forest in southern Illinois. This area offers all the hills, forests, and wildlife one could ever imagine. Such magnificent rock formations, gently flowing streams, and tranquil forests are not available anywhere else in the region.

If you prefer a little more action, the lakes and rivers in southern and central Illinois offer great opportunities for all types of boating and water sports.

For more information on the vast recreational opportunities offered in Illinois, you may contact the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, Division of Tourism, at 1-800-252-8987 from within the state, or call 1-800-637-8560 from elsewhere in the Midwest.

Post offices plan to stress service; may be open later

Some of the larger post offices in Metro East may soon have Friday night hours under a Postal Service reorganization that will put new importance on meeting consumers' needs, according to the new division manager postmaster.

Post offices may be kept open until 7 or 8 on Friday nights, and local postmasters will have the power to extend counter hours on other days, Division Postmaster John Goodman said.

"We're changing our whole philosophy in the Postal Service," he said. "We're becoming more customer-oriented."

Goodman heads the St. Louis division of the U.S. Postal Service, which as of June 7 includes Illinois post offices in the 622 and 620 ZIP codes.

Post offices from Jerseyville to Chester, including Granite City, Madison and Venice, all under administrative authority in Carbondale, will now be supervised from St. Louis.

Although the reorganization took effect Saturday, the consumer probably won't notice Goodman said the processing won't change. "We've been processing mail (in St. Louis) since 1974."

Goodman went to the Hilton Inn in Collinsville June 3 to discuss the reorganization with area postmasters.

"It's a nationwide reorganization," he said; "they created 74 divisions so we could be closer to the public we serve."

"I think we were getting away from the real reason we're in business: the customer."

"What we hope to do is become more efficient and more receptive. We think we'll accomplish that."

The reorganization allows more local decision making, he said. Previously, two levels of management had to be consulted.

With the authority, however, comes accountability, Goodman said. "We have to be judicious in our spending," he said.

The Postal Service has operated without federal tax subsidies for five years, he said.

The Postal Service must change the attitude of its workers, Goodman said. All desk clerks will be required to attend courtesy classes.

Juvenile thugs topic of conference

The Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission "Assist 14" program in cooperation with West Central Illinois Criminal Justice Council Assist 9 will present a two-day juvenile justice conference June 16-17 on "The Juvenile Predator."

Law enforcement officers, the Department of Children and Family Services, juvenile probation and detection officers, school administrators and teachers will be in attendance.

A local committee of administration of justice and Department of Children and Family Service professionals, chaired by Collinsville Police Juvenile Officer Joe Girolamo, has put together a program which will stress information and action aimed at "interdicting the destructive and deleterious actions of predatory juveniles, including those juveniles who sexually assault or participate in juvenile gang activity, school violence and serious street crime."

Instructors in the course are from the New York and Chicago police departments, as well as Dr. Wolfgang Pindur, professor and chairman of the Department of Urban Studies and Public Administration, School of Arts and Letters, Old Dominion University, Norfolk, Va.

Currently, Dr. Pindur is the national field manager for the juvenile Serious Habitual Offender Program funded by the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

This program has been made possible by funding from the Illinois Local Governmental Law Enforcement Officers Training Board and the Department of Children and Family Service.

Assist is an acronym for A Statewide System for In-Service Training.

Assist 14 covers the Illinois counties of Bond, Clinton, Madison, Monroe, Randolph, St. Clair and Washington.

Assist 9 includes the Illinois counties of Adams, Brown, Calhoun, Christian, Greene, Jersey, Macoupin, Montgomery, Pike and Schuyler.

The conference will be held June 16-17 at the Ramada Inn in Alton.

Becky Slate installed with corps of officers

President Becky Slate and other members of the 1986-87 corps of officers for the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Organization were installed in ceremonies held at Charlie's Restaurant.

Mary Lou Malwitz, foundation chairman for the Illinois Federation, past director of District XIV and past president of the Collinsville group, served as installing officer.

Other officers installed were Lisa Fanning, first vice-president, Kathleen Clark, second vice-president, Carol Buehler, recording secretary, and Sandra Ashcraft, treasurer.

Malwitz used the theme of "BPW Gems" for her address comparing the duties and responsibilities of the new officers to the durability, self-worth, stimulus, energy and beauty demonstrated by five different gems.

A diamond was compared to the office of president, ruby to first vice president, emerald to second vice president, topaz to secretary and sapphire to treasurer.

She also called attention to four issues considered crucial to the advancement of working women in the federation's 1986-87 focus. They are pay equity, workplace responsiveness, education for today and tomorrow, and managing your life.

"Evaluate each project and consider the results when planning the next project," Malwitz said.

She congratulated the local organization as Club of the Year and challenged it to set higher goals for the forthcoming year.

She then presented each officer with a frame enclosing the gem representative of her office.

Pauline Weir presented her gift for serving as installing officer.

Slate has been an active member for 22 years and will begin her second term as president.

She also served as treasurer for five years and chairman of various committees. She is employed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center as director of Volunteer Services and previously worked for the federal government for 30 years.

The president announced her appointments for standing committees.

Chairmen include: issues, Lisa Fanning, membership, Kathleen Clark, finance, Hazel Hollins, public relations, Pauline Weir, careerist, Becky Jones, legislation, Jane Isenberg, foundation, Lucille Berry and parliamentary advisor, Annel Smith.

Entertainment was provided by Salvation Army Capt. and Mrs. Stephen Kiger and daughters.

June 11, 1986 — GRANITE CITY JOURNAL

GC Jr. Service Club hosts mothers' dinner

The annual mother-daughter dinner sponsored by the Granite City Junior Service Club was held at Favazza's Restaurant in St. Louis.

Hostesses for the social event were Joyce Curran, Betty Nighossian, Joyce Hellrich and Gail Mofsky.

The meeting was conducted by President Debbie McMillan and a report was read by JoAnn Waymire. Two new eyeglass cases were presented by Becky Serlich. Serlich and Elaine Rains discussed the Belleville Area College scholarship; since no application was returned to the school, the group agreed to hold the money until next year.

Linda Schermer presented a letter which was submitted to the United Way Venture Grant Program, and Serlich reviewed committees for the forthcoming year. Donna Polivick, the retiring president, was presented with a yearbook by Serlich, first vice president.

The president announced dues are payable at the next meeting, which will be hosted by Gail McGovern. Donna Sprankle, Brenda Weckman and Waymire. They plan a picnic at Wilson Park on June 16.

At the close of the meeting Gail Mofsky read a Mother's Day poem followed by presentation of table centerpieces as prizes. Club members who received the floral arrangements were Joyce Hellrich, Carolyn Yates and Debbie McMillan and guests, Irene Groe and Helen Warfield.

Other members attending were Pat Murphy, Mary Holloway, Renee Tansie, Mary Ann Bright and Ruth Klaus. Guests included Della Seibold, Ila McMillan, Judy Bolton, Evelyn Reising, Marie Bertello, Kim Holloway, Lynsey Holloway, April Polovick, Verne Masters, Theresa Harding, Gloria Curran, Mary Hanfelder, Betty Schermer, Elly Mofsky, Lucy Stucke, Delene Diak, Mary Adams, Helen Martin, Norma Milnacec and probationary member Carol Jones.

VFW 1245 Auxiliary installs new officers

A formal installation ceremony was conducted by Elinor Dome, district president, for new officers of the VFW Post 1245 Auxiliary in the home of Hazel Rollins.

Those to serve the organization for the ensuing year are Gloria Druhe, president, Billie Jo Turner senior vice president, Annette Druhe junior vice president, Shirley White treasurer, Hazel Rollins chaplain, Lola Barylske conductress, Julie Wyckoff guard, Ima Clemmons, Dorothy Robles and Bonnie Wyckoff, trustees, and Judy David, secretary.

Appointments include Bonnie Wyckoff, patriotic instructor, Hazel Rollins historian, Ima Clemmons musician, Gloria Druhe rehabilitation chairman, Shirley White membership, Hazel Rollins and loyalty chairmen, Shirley White, Buddy Poppy chairman, Judy David cancer chairman, Gloria Druhe child welfare, Lola Barylske community action, Hazel Rollins grave registration. Also, Bonnie Wyckoff, hospital chairman, Gloria Druhe junior girls, Julie Wyckoff legislature, Judy Davis national home, Bonnie Wyckoff, PAC chairman, Hazel Rollins public relations, Billy Jo Turner safety, Judy Davis, USO chairman and Shirley White, youth action chairman.

Guests attending were Marge Canady, district president elect, and Mary Keidel.

After the ceremonial, the president presented Dome with a gift in appreciation for her serving as installing officer.

Several fund raising projects were discussed and will be voted on at the next meeting. The president noted the district installation will be on Saturday, June 21, at Rosemont.

Refreshments followed the session, served by Rollins.

Recital at church

BATTERY WARRANT SERVED

Donna M. Walker, 20, of 1914 Beckwith Ave., Madison, was served a warrant June 5 on a charge of aggravated battery.

$200 BICYCLE IS STOLEN
Bill Webb of 4033 Stearns Ave. told police June 5 a burglar entered his garage and took a girl's 10-speed bicycle valued at $200.

PURSE WITH $195 TAKEN
Jeannie Hill of 2152 Grand Ave. said June 6 a burglar took her purse from her car parked at St. John's Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road. The purse contained $195 and personal papers.

YOUTH IS CHARGED WITH FLEEING FROM POLICE
A 15-year-old Granite City boy was charged June 5 with fleeing or attempting to elude police and driving without a valid driver's license.

Police said they saw him riding a dirt bike north along railroad tracks, away from W. Pontoon Road. Upon noticing the police, he fled on the bike, it was contended. The boy was later apprehended at his home and was released on $102 cash bail.

INJURED ON MARYVILLE ROAD
Thomas E. Sciffee, 18, of 3032 Ash Ave. was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center after he was injured May 24 in a collision with the rear of a car driven by Tabitha Hassell of Ladue. She had stopped at Maryville Road and Emert Ave. Details of the accident reported in a recent issue were based on an incorrect official report.

PUNCHED IN PARKING LOT
Randy Ezell, 27, of the 2100 block of Alexander Ave. reported to police June 5 that a man punched him in the face in a parking lot at 3120 Nameoki Road. The unknown man then left in a car with Texas license plates. Ezell was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

TRUCK WINDOWS BROKEN
Greg Hay of House Springs, Mo., reported to Granite City police June 5 that the windshield and left window were broken and the left rear tire was slashed on his pickup truck while it was parked behind a building at 1509 Pontoon Road.

OC MAN SERVED WARRANT
Jeffrey D. Riggs, 21, of 2300 W. 23rd St. was served a warrant June 4 for failing to appear at a hearing on a charge of driving with a suspended license. He was released on $102 cash bail.

3 CARS SPRAY-PAINTED
Jeff Knott, of 2800 Enzee Ave. told police June 4 that someone sprayed red paint on the right side of two of his cars parked in front of his home. Pauline Holmes of 2805 Enzee said June 4 a 1969 Ford sprayed black paint on the right side of her car, parked in front of her home.

STEREO STOLEN FROM TRUCK

High school students congregate in area

High school students from Episcopal churches across southern and eastern Illinois gathered in East St. Louis this week to help indigent families refurbish their homes.

Sixteen young people and their adult sponsors were scheduled to begin work Monday, June 9, under the auspices of the Rev. Buck Jones, director of the East St. Louis Metropolitan Ministry, which is funded in part by the Episcopal Diocese of Springfield.

Dr. Jones will choose the families to receive assistance. ESLMM volunteers will also provide support for the teenagers as they scrape and paint residents' homes.

The young people will stay at Toddhall, an Episcopal retreat center near Columbia. Local Episcopal parishes in Belleville, Glen Carbon and Alton will host the crew for pot luck suppers during the week. Other planned entertainment includes a pizza party, a cookout and a day at Six Flags over Mid-America.

In addition to their labors, the youths will spend part of each day in worship and in reflection on the work they are doing. It is designed, according to diocesan planners, as an opportunity both to help others and to grow in faith through outreach ministries.

Friendship party for Madison grads

Summer performers offered to parks, libraries, schools

The Madison County Arts Council has announced the first Summer Performing Artists Series for the summer of 1986. The series will run as a pilot program from mid-June to the end of July.

The Summer Performing Artists Series is a continuation of the Winter Performing Artists Series which ran from October through April of the 1985-86 school year. There is hope that the Performing Artists Series will prove to be popular enough to eventually become a year-round program.

Funding is supported by a grant from the Illinois Arts Council. Because of the IAC funding, the series is offered to schools and other groups at reduced rates. The Madison County Arts Council is offering the performers to PAMCs, parks and recreation departments, libraries and summer school programs throughout Madison County.

There are six performing artists in the summer series. Tim Angelo, a mime artist, is widely recognized for his performances in the St. Louis area. He has performed at the Westport Playhouse and the St. Louis Art Museum, with some work in New Orleans and San Francisco. His work consists of warm-up routines, improvisational games and mime techniques. Angelo is available for bookings on June 25, 26 and 27.

Donald Beattie, a classical pianist and music educator, offers programs that couple learning and listening enjoyment. Beattie has two special programs, one a lecture-recital and the other providing music for children. Booking dates for Beattie are July 16 and 17.

Imagination Theater is an educational theater company that believes everyone has "the ability to creatively design possibilities for personal growth." This participatory group uses techniques of role-playing, game playing and pantomime to develop the use of the imagination.

It received the Illinois Governor's Award for the Arts in recognition of the quality and importance of its performances. The group is available for bookings July 14 and 15.

Taleppo the Storyteller is a performing artist who, with the help of the audience, paints a story in each person's mind. Programs are tailored for the needs of different age groups, kindergarten to senior citizens. Special programs can be arranged. Times available for Taleppo are June 30, July 1 and 2.

Mark Twain comes to life as performed by Loren Taylor, emeritus professor of Southern Illinois University and of Southeast Missouri State University. Taylor is an authority on the life and works of one of America's great writers and brings him to life for audiences of both children and adults. Taylor is available July 21 and 22.

Lytle and Doris Mayfield perform a blend of traditional Southern Illinois folk songs, tunes of the '30s and '40s, plus their own compositions. Their appeal is universal and can be structured to fit the needs of any audience from small children to senior citizens. July 7, 8 and 9 are the available booking dates for the Mayfields.

The Winter Performing Artists Series that has just ended reached about 30,000 children in Madison County. This series, which started in 1981 with only 20 bookings, has now grown to 104 bookings at schools throughout the county.

Chadwick

William E. Chadwick, 82, of Collinsville, formerly of Granite City, died at 4:18 p.m. Saturday, June 7, 1986, at Oliver Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

Born in Stewart County, Tenn., he lived in this area for many years prior to moving to the present address. He was employed at Granite City Steel for many years and retired there in 1968. He had driven his 1986 auto through the A-1 Car Wash on Bellline Road in Collinsville at 3:15 p.m. Saturday. He was wiping the car off near the exit when a 1976 auto emerged from the car wash at high speed, knocked him down and ran over him.

Coroner Dallas Burke said Mr. Chadwick died of internal injuries after being taken to the hospital. The motorist, Myrtle Daly, 78, Collinsville, said her vehicle had been in neutral when it lurched forward into the parking lot. She did not recall putting the car in gear or stepping on the accelerator.

The Daly auto left skid marks for 82 feet and then crossed the Bellline, ran up an embankment and hit a parked car. Daly's car then struck and braved a utility pole, coming to a halt after knocking over a fire hydrant. She was released after treatment at Anderson Hospital, and was not charged.

Mr. Chadwick was a member of the First Baptist Church in Maryville.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Minnie J. Chadwick.

Survivors include one daughter, Evelyn Coulter of Troy, Ill.; a son, Ronald Chadwick of Collinsville; two brothers, Herman Chadwick, Granite City, and Wilbur Chadwick, Collinsville; a sister, Georgia Parchman, Cumberland City, Tenn.; four grandchildren; five great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Visitation was at Herbert A. Kasky Funeral Home, 815 W. Dallas St., Collinsville. The Rev. Jerry L. Brown will conduct 10 a.m. services today, June 11, at the First Baptist Church in Maryville, with burial at Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville. Memorials are suggested for the First Baptist Church building fund.

day, June 12. Burial will be in National Cemetery, Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

Glik

Funeral services for Mrs. Gussie Kapp Glik, 55, of Clayton, travel consultant for 12 years at Travel Masters, Aldine Travel and Brentwood Travel Agency, were held at 10 a.m. Tuesday, June 10, at Shaare Emeth Temple, 11645 Ladue Road, St. Louis.

She died Sunday, June 8, 1986, at her home after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Glik attended University City High School and Washington University.

She was the wife of Joseph Glik, president of the Glik apparel stores. The Glik family was among the pioneers in Madison and Granite City retailing, and the company in recent years has expanded to a wide region in Illinois and Missouri.

Other survivors include her mother, Rose Kapp of University City; three sons, Robert Glik of Richmond Heights, Jeffrey Glik of Clayton and James Glik of University City; a daughter, Judith Glik of Clayton; and a sister, Thelma Goldstein of Louisville, Ky.

Private burials were planned for Mount Sinai Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be sent to the Gussie Glik Cancer Fund, in care of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City, a family spokesman said.

Mayfield

Alice (Gould) Mayfield, 91, of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, died at 6:30 p.m. Monday, June 9, 1986, at DePaul Health Center, St. Louis.

Born April 22, 1895, in Bloomington, Ill., Mrs. Mayfield lived in Granite City almost all her life until moving to Edwardsville 20 years ago.

She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Edwardsville.

She and her husband, Roy Mayfield, who died in 1967, were married Jan. 10, 1920. She also was preceded in death by five sisters and one brother.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Loretta Shillat of Edwardsville, and nieces and nephews.

Visitation will be from 5 to 8 p.m. today, June 11, at Weber Funeral Home, 304 W. Main St., Edwardsville, where a prayer service will be held at 7:30 tonight.

The Rev. Roger Simpson will read a 10 a.m. Mass on Thursday, June 12, at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Edwardsville, with burial at Calvary Cemetery, Edwardsville.

GC woman hurt in 5-car mishap

GRANITE CITY — A Granite City woman was injured Sunday when a striking four parked vehicles.

June D. Beyrau, 63, of 3101 Jill Ave. was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center following the mishap, which occurred at 9:10 p.m. June 8.

She was southbound on St. Clair Avenue when she collided with a car owned by Nancy Terkin of 2921 Dale Ave. It was parked in front of 1957 St. Clair.

Beyrau's car bounced off that auto and struck a camper owned by Billy Wood of 1953 St. Clair.

She continued eastbound, colliding with a car owned by Brian Mason of 1925 St. Clair, parked in front of Mason's home.

Beyrau then turned north into the parking lot of the Winner's Circle 3102 Namewok Road. There her auto hit a parked station wagon owned by John Ziegler, 1900 Spruce St.

She allegedly tried to leave the parking lot southbound behind the building but hit a guardrail and a sign.

Beyrau was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident and two counts of leaving the scene of an accident.

Aftercare aiding GC adolescents

The transition between hospitalization and home will be easier for patients in the Adolescent Unit of Kotteler Mental Health Services, thanks to the Aftercare Therapy program recently begun at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and the hiring of Teresa Cook, Ph.D., as Aftercare therapist.

The program began because of the medical staff's repeated requests for a more active patient follow-up, according to Jim Gallagher, SEMC director of Kotteler Mental Health Services.

The 18-month search for an aftercare therapist ended in March, when Cook was hired. A California native, she has a doctorate in clinical psychology from Washington University and has previous clinical experience with adults and children.

With her child development approach, Cook said she sees her work with adolescents as another important step in the early prevention of other emotional and behavioral difficulties that they may have later in life.

Aftercare therapy, Cook said, is where the hard work begins for an adolescent who has received treatment.

"When patients leave (the unit), they remember the hospital as a peaceful place where they met some nice people who were always there to listen and where they made some positive changes. It is a supportive and caring environment and very effective. But a hospital stay will not solve their problems.

"They need to be back home in order to work on their problem and to make the changes that need to be made. That's where Aftercare can make an impact."

Adolescents nearing discharge will be allowed to attend an Aftercare group meeting while they are still inpatients. After discharge, attendance at up to seven weekly sessions is ordered by their physician. No more than 12 adolescents will be in a group.

"This type of transition is difficult for anyone but especially for adolescents," Cook said. "The overriding question for them is, 'What am I going to tell my friends?'"

The Aftercare program helps them deal with their peers and teachers and comply with their follow-up plan."

The program is offered free as a service of SEMC in its attempt to provide comprehensive treatment services.

In the past, Cook said, SEMC had been referring patients to a clinic for ongoing care, but found out that the adolescents either were not following through or were placed on waiting lists, and the connection was not being made, with an Aftercare program for the unit, there will be no room for excuses.

"We think it will provide a better continuity of care and better discharge planning," said Gallagher. "It is a continuation of the treatment started in the hospital. We expect it will decrease the number of patients who return to the hospital after discharge as well as provide more aggressive follow-up."

In addition to group work, adolescents will be seen by Cook for individual and family outpatient therapy sessions. There is no limit to the number of these sessions.

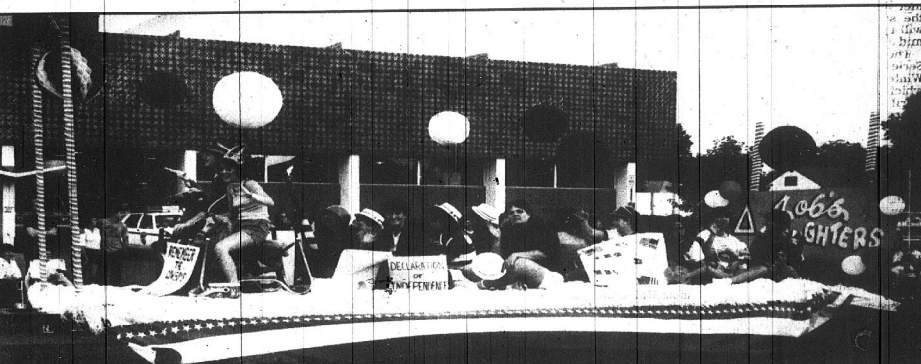

During inpatient treatment of their adolescents, families are notified early of St. Elizabeth Medical Center's strong orientation toward working with families.

"Often, an adolescent can get help," Cook noted, "but unless the family changes and is willing to alter its pattern to support the adolescent, the good changes don't last."

Cook said she, as the Aftercare therapist, will be under the supervision of the attending physician, Dr. David Berland. She will also work closely with family therapist Barb Glasier. This team approach to treatment within the hospital itself is much to her liking.

"It's nice to have the Aftercare program within the hospital because we do have more control over the adolescents and their ongoing treatment," Cook said.

"Sometimes giving them a phone number of a clinic is not enough; a weekly appointment makes it easier for them to get the help they need."

Shrine parade

THE FIRST-PLACE WINNER in the Alnad Shrine parade last week in float competition with a patriotic theme is the John Deere 43 entry. The second-place trophy went to Thomas Mortuary and the third-place trophy went to Cub Scout Pack 22. Best in the circus theme competition was Street Machines of Granite City, first place; Marzipan Pizza, second; and Granite City Junior Service Club, third. (Staff photo by Patrick Foley)

the School Board and Superintendent Max Redmond.

Partney said he plans to revise a May 9 suit which named board members Monroe Worthen, Alan Crider, Dewey Melton, Gerald McMechan, John Terrell and Kelly Hogan in a suit over alleged violations of the Open Meetings Act.

In that suit, Partney alleges the school board violated the Illinois Open Meetings Act on March 25 during a two-hour and 40-minute executive session.

During that meeting, Partney said, the board discussed items not provided for in the Open Meetings Act.

Partney said he will broaden that suit to include the June 3 meeting of the board in executive session.

Several board members agree they discussed destroying tapes of previous executive sessions; requesting a new reporter to cover the school board; and press coverage of a state association administrator's reaction to the controversy surrounding the board.

During executive session, the board did not direct its attorneys to pursue litigation against the newspaper.

Because legal matters must be "likely to occur" to qualify for discussion in executive session, Partney feels the June 3 meeting was a violation of the act.

An Apr. 10 opinion rendered by Assistant State's Attorney Bruce Goldstein stated in reference to the March 25 meeting:

"We believe a civil violation of the Open Meetings Act occurred. We believe that the law intended that School Board members discuss the creation of job descriptions in public session. Since the job descriptions in question were discussed in private session, the Board violated the Act."

Goldstein's findings led the board Apr. 2 to file a complaint for declaratory judgment naming Partney as defendant.

Wildev Arts Center to close

After an "agonizing" meeting, the Madison County Arts Council board of directors made a decision nobody wanted to make. The Wildev Arts Center will close effective June 30.

John Peecher, executive director of the council, confirmed the board's action, followed by expressions of dismay from Board President Craig Leitner.

"It is unfortunate," Leitner said, "we're sorry we had to reach this point. We just felt we were forced into it."

"It's economics," he added. "We felt it was better to get out now while we were still solvent and can still do things (outreach programs) for the Arts Council."

Peecher, too, pointed toward financial pressures facing the center. "It costs so much to run the building. We didn't feel like trying to keep the center open when we can't use so much of it," he explained from his storefront office in the building at 252 N. Main St., Edwardsville. "We didn't want to run this place into the red with a building we couldn't use."

Lately, both men confirmed, red is all the council officials have been seeing on the Wildev's financial books and horizon.

Announcement of the closure, timed to coincide with the council's fiscal year end, followed a pair of public forums held April 21 to gauge support for the center's future. It was revealed that time that $85,000 in cash and kind donations would be required to keep the center solvent for the coming year.

That figure included $60,000 to cover operating costs and $25,000 for improvements that would have enabled the movie theater to be used for live performances, a necessary step if the center was going to generate more than the trickle of revenue it had prior to that point.

Unfortunately for the Wildev, sentiment doesn't pay the bills. And whether there was even $25,000 worth is debatable, Leitner said.

Forsythe

Stella M. (Lancaster) McGovern Forsythe, 84, of Granite City, Ill. for six months, died at 1:40 a.m. Monday, June 9, 1986, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She was hospitalized for one month.

A native of Tennessee, she lived in this area for 62 years. Mrs. Forsythe was manager of Forcades Restaurant in Madison for several years and retired in 1966.

Survivors include her husband, Dudley Forsythe; three sons, Gifford "Mac" McGovern, Madison, and Gene McGovern and Phillip "Flip" McGovern, both of Granite City; one sister, Marie Cane, Granite City; nine grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Visitation was Tuesday, June 10, at Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., where the Rev. Leon Belt will conduct 10 a.m. services today, June 11, in Mercer Chapel. Burial will be at St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameeki Road.

Sternberg

Dave Sternberg Jr., 58, of 2732 W. 20th St., ill for 2½ years, died at 3:11 a.m. Monday, June 9, 1986, at Jefferson Barracks Veterans Hospital, St. Louis. He was a hospital patient for four days.

A lifelong resident of Granite City, he served in both the U.S. Army and Air Force. He was of the Pentecostal faith.

Mr. Sternberg worked at National Lead Co. for 10 years as a press operator and retired in 1980.

He was preceded by his wife, Ada Sternberg, on Nov. 13, 1981, and by one brother and two sisters.

Survivors include three daughters, Debra Cochran, DeSoto, Mo.; Vera Grossman, Belleville, and Tish Riese, Sikeston, Mo.; one brother, Sidney Sternberg, and three sisters, Dora Sternberg, Mrs. Marvin (Betty) Mefford and Anna Mae Sternberg, all of Granite City; and two grandchildren.

Visitation will begin after 5 p.m. today, June 11, at Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., where the Rev. John Davis will officiate at 1 p.m. services Thurs-

Travel

Vatican City rich with history, art

A visit to Rome must include a day in Vatican City (Citta del Vaticano).

The tiny, (108 acres) sovereign state of Vatican City was created in 1929 when Benito Mussolini concluded an agreement with the papacy, which decreed Roman Catholicism as Italy's national religion.

But the area which is the seat of Roman Catholicism, once was a swamp, cow pasture and sports arena. Many scholars say Nero's infamous circus, where early Christians (including St. Peter) were martyred, lies under St. Peter's Square (Piazza San Pietro). The square's ancient Egyptian obelisk that rises 84 feet into the air, once was a goal post in Nero's circus.

Vatican City was the spot I was most looking forward to visiting. This was the site that had the most religious, historic and artistic significance.

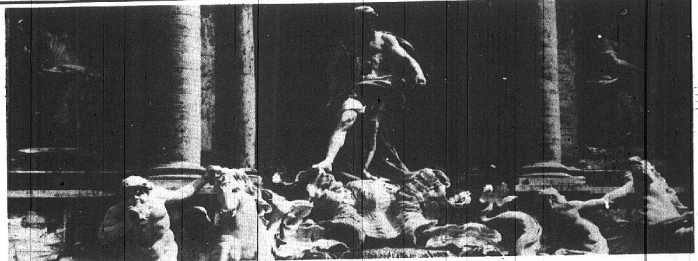

When we crossed the "border" from Rome to Vatican City, my excitement mounted. A papal benediction was given to thousands of the faithful just a few days prior to my visit. Bags of trash - the evidence of the crowd - lined the outside of the piazza. The first impression of St. Peter's Square is its immensity. The square seems to reach out to all humankind. This architectural masterpiece by Rome's famous baroque sculptor, Gian Lorenzo Bernini, took just 12 years to complete.

I was drawn to the basilica. St. Peter's Basilica (Basilica di

The Trevi Fountain in Rome

San Pietro), the largest Catholic church (204 yards long), was consecrated in 1626. Architectural plans by Bramante, Raphael, Sangallo, Michelangelo, della Porta, Fontana and Moderna took more than 100 years to complete.

To get an idea of the size of this church, there are points in the marbled floor that indicate where some of the world's larger Catholic churches could sit. For instance, a disc in the first quarter of the basilica's floor indicates St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City will fit comfortably inside St. Peter's.

As our guide explained the history behind this impressive church,

I allowed my eyes to wander around and suddenly, there was Michelangelo's "Pietà" off the right side of the main entrance in a chapel. A line of visitors, including two elderly nuns, were praying in front of this renowned sculpture that seems to silently speak to its admirers.

Americans develop fear of terrorists

I had eight hours to kill on my return TWA flight from Rome to New York. While reading the International Herald-Tribune, I came to a column by Russell Baker. "The Chicken American," that took a humorous look at people who cancelled summer vacation in Europe because of fear of terrorist attacks.

Call it karma. In the column, Baker is having a conversation with someone who has skipped Rome, Paris, London and Madrid to stay in the States and watch Rambo. Baker points out that movie theaters are just as vulnerable to terrorist bombings as the Grand Canal in Venice.

"Sure," the American Chicken says, "But who goes to the theater? I always watch Rambo at home on my VCR."

Bravo, Baker! Now that we've had a good laugh, let's analyze the message behind the one-liners.

I was in Italy about two weeks ago and returned unscathed. Terrorism certainly was a concern and while I was on guard, (I left Bruce Springsteen cassette tapes at home) I wasn't about to cancel any plans.

Unfortunately, many Americans have turned "chicken".

Paolo Arbarello, director of tourism for the Rome region, expects Americans to drop by 20 percent this summer. Even Europeans are staying out of Italy. German tourism in Italy is down 26 percent; French visitors by 16 percent and English guests are down 11 percent.

Arbarello said his office hopes the world-wide fear of terrorism will be quieted by this fall.

However, Italy is preparing for next year. It's organizing a six billion-lire advertising campaign to promote Italian tourism. The campaign will be directed to the United States and Europe.

So, what happens to a tourist in Rome?

Airport security is tight. Armed military personnel mill around Leonardo da Vinci airport near Rome. Some carry machine guns. Others have dogs.

Follow common sense. Don't ask to have your picture taken with a soldier. Don't pet the dog. These men take their purpose seriously.

Once out of the airport, if you can survive Rome's crazy traffic on the way to the hotel, you'll be fine. Watch out for the gypsy children who try to divert your attention and pick your pocket. Some people say an American passport is worth $10,000 on the black market. However, many hotels will hold a passport and return it at time of check out.

When departing Rome, soldiers will again meet you at the airport terminal entrance. At the very least, they will look at your passport and ask a few questions. Sometimes, they pat down (frisk) passengers.

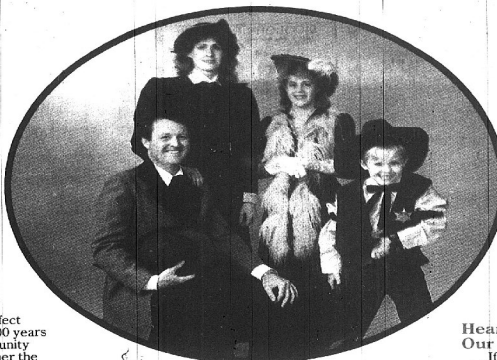

You may have noticed that I have not mentioned any snipers or bombers. Happily, most European tourists will not run into these crazy people. Media reports unfortunately, have spread hysteria throughout our country.

While a new person cannot ignore a plane hijacking or an airport bombing, as readers or viewers, it is our responsibility to digest the information and use it for informative thinking.

Choosing to avoid the treasures of Italy (or the rest of Europe) is not a responsible decision. It is a reactionary one.

Alda ignores movie formulas

It was a tough time for Alan Alda to be on the road plugging his new film, Sweet Liberty. His father, actor Robert Alda, had passed away eight days before Alan Alda arrived in St. Louis.

"But Alda saw some wisdom in getting back to work quickly. 'I'm glad I came back to work,' Alda said. 'I know it has only been about a week but it helps make me feel involved and engaged in doing something and that helps me better my point of view.'"

In Sweet Liberty, Alda plays a man who has written a book about the American Revolution. The book is made into a movie.

There is a portion in the script of Sweet Liberty when the director of the film tells Alda that successful movies these days do three basic things: defy authority, destroy property and take off somebody's clothes. Alda agrees most movies made today do some or all of those things.

"A lot of pictures are made with those three criteria in mind. But I didn't just get that idea from looking at pictures. I read an interview in the New York Times with a director who was a first time director who was told by the studio that he had to do those three things in his film if he wanted to have a hit."

"But Alda said he doesn't work according to formulas. 'I just try to find out what people are like and what they're doing and see where that takes me,' he said."

Alda has always had a special talent for relating to audiences, both as an actor on television and in films and now behind the cameras as a director and writer. Alda thinks this skill he has developed comes from some of his personal tastes as a performer, especially when he was first starting out on his career.

"As a young actor," Alda says,

Applications given for crafts fair

Applications are now available for participation in Laumeier Sculpture Park's Third Annual Arts & Crafts Fair on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 11 and 12.

Scheduled to coincide with the St. Louis Arts Festival, this juried, outdoor exhibition is open to regional artists working in varied fine craft and art media.

Applications must be made on official application forms and should include three slides and a $20 acceptance fee. Postmark deadline for applications is Friday, July 11.

Interested artists are encouraged to write for applications or

In addition to starring in the film, "Sweet Liberty", Alan Alda has written and directed the film.

"I used to enjoy playing in farces but I never enjoyed seeing farces as much as I enjoyed playing in them. When I'm in the audience I like to see real people on the screen. I like to see recognizable behavior, not just nonsense that tickles your funny bone."

"If I'm going to spend two years making a picture I have to make one that I'm going to be willing to go see myself because in the process of editing it I have to see the picture about 700 times. So it better be something that has some behavior in it that I can watch more than once."

"I find when people act the way they do in real life you can watch it over and over again because there's always something that you hadn't noticed before. There's always something under the surface that's intriguing," he says.

But Alda is concerned about making films.

Actress enjoys smart career

LOS ANGELES - Ally Sheedy spoke warmly about her co-star in the comedy Short Circuit, saying he's more than a hunk of cold steel.

"I think he's a great character and very lovable to work with. But you should see what he looks like when the seven guys who operate him are moving him around," she said.

The co-star is Number 5, a $2 million robot created for the comedy. Short Circuit is a story about a girl and her robot, who acquires human characteristics after he is struck by lightning.

After Short Circuit, Sheedy will be seen in another youth-oriented drama, Blue City.

Sheedy, 22, is part of a group of Hollywood actors and actresses who have been nicknamed the "brat pack." The list reads like a hot movie marquee: Sean Penn, Matthew Broderick, Holly Hunter, Rob Lowe, Tom Cruise, Emilio Estevez, Anthony Michael Hall and Judd Nelson. Sheedy has worked with most of them in a string of successful films, including Bad Boys, War Games, Oxford Blues, The Breakfast Club, St. Elmo's Fire and Twice in a Lifetime.

Sheedy is from New York City where her father is an advertising executive and her mother a literary agent. At the age of 18, Sheedy pulled up stakes and moved to the west coast to attend the University of Southern California.

Sheedy acquired a theatrical agent and began balancing acting with her schooling. But she said her recent appearance in Twice in a Lifetime gave her valuable acting experience.

"It's hard to explain this," she said, "but in that movie when we went in to work everyday it felt like every single person was acting out their own story. I always felt we were just running through everybody's emotions. It was just very intense work. Gene Hackman was really amazing. He has done so much acting, so many movies, has so much experience that he made me feel like a big much of him as I could. Ellen Burstyn was very open and always talking about things. She's very open to explaining her process of defining a character."

To make a burger that tastes like you made it from scratch, you have to start from scratch.

Loss everything out. Start all over again. Whether it was the way we'd always done it, or the way everyone else still does it, tough luck. The idea here is to make a better burger. Our grills were the first to bite the dust. In their place, new ones, custom-designed to cook at a lower, more even temperature. So our new burgers stay thicker, full of natural juices.

Next came the beef.

Some places ship theirs in frozen from Australia or South America, only to be thawed, packed into patties, refrozen and shipped again. We decided to stay closer to home. As in 100% pure American beef.

Finally, to form that beef into patties, we came up with a contraption that uses about half the usual pressure. Gently shaping it. Instead of pounding it into submission.

Was it worth it?

To find out, simply sink your teeth into our scrumptious new Big Deluxe™ Burger.

Our succulent new 1/4 lb. Cheeseburger. Our zippy new Bacon Cheeseburger.

We think you'll think they taste about as close to scratch as you can come without actually making it yourself.

And isn't that something you've been itching for?

New plants require watering

Several readers have asked why a plant would wilt after being watered regularly following planting.

An improper method of watering after planting can cause a plant to dry out, especially if the plant was container-grown and the media was high in organic matter. Wilting also sometimes happens to plants that are balled and burlapped.

Look at the growing media that the plant has been in. Container plants are often grown in medias that contain high organic matter such as bark, with little or no soil. This material, if dried out, is difficult to wet again unless a steady supply of water is slowly applied over a period of time.

Also, roots should be opened at the base of the plant before it is set into the hole. Fill soil in about half way around the root ball, then firm and soak well. Once water disappears, complete filling with soil, then mulch well and water again.

Plants grown and sold as balled and burlapped material can also dry out if not given adequate water at planting time. With larger plants, it may be wise to let a hose drip slowly for an hour or more at regular periods to make sure the soil is properly moistened.

At the first sign of wilting, check the soil near the base of the plant by carefully digging to about 2 inches. If soil is dry, water is needed. If soil is wet, then over-watering may have occurred.

In over-watering, the roots are smothered and air is excluded - which can cause roots to rot. When this happens, plants will wilt on hot days because they cannot take up sufficient water. In severe cases, they may die.

Will-Pruf, a commercial anti-transpirant, may be sprayed on new plants following label directions. The product will slow down transpiration of water from the plant. This will help prevent evergreens and deciduous trees and shrubs from drying out. It is available at most garden centers.

A reader asks about the care of yucca vera, moon cactus and the prayer plant.

These plants like soil that is well drained, but high in organic matter. The aloe vera and moon cactus like some sun, but will do well as long as they get strong light for 12 to 14 hours daily.

The aloe vera is a succulent and is usually grown for its juices, which help in ointments for burns, skin and hair care.

Hints remove cloth stain

Sloppy cooks may be the best cooks. But they'll have the worst-looking clothes unless they learn a few stain removal skills.

The quicker you get to a stain, the better, says Betty Feather, extension clothing and textiles specialist with the University of Missouri.

The sugary spots are the easiest to remove. All you have to do is rub in a little hand-dishwashing detergent, such as Joy or Palmolive, and water. The spots should disappear, Feather says.

If you can't give the spots immediate attention, at least put the clothes in some cool water. Greasy spots are a little more difficult. It's best to have a dry-cleaning solvent on hand at all times to wage war on these. The solvents, such as Energine, are available at many hardware, discount and even grocery stores, Feather says.

Work from the back side and literally push the stain with a sponge, clean white rag or white paper towel onto some white paper towels that you've placed on a hard surface.

With combination stains, do the hardest part first. Bring out the dry-cleaning solvent and see what that will take care of. Then go to the water and hand-dishwashing detergent.

For red stains, you may have to resort to some rubbing alcohol or a chlorine bleach solution. But first test these products on an unseen spot of your garment to make sure you don't take color out of the fabric. Use them in the same manner as the dry-cleaning solvent.

Routine cleaning keeps microwave ovens fresh

It's easy to walk away from the splatters and spills in your microwave by shutting the door. But this appliance needs to be cleaned regularly just like any other.

Marilyn Caselman, state extension household equipment specialist at the University of Missouri-Columbia, recommends getting in the habit of wiping it out when you do dishes. A little dishwashing detergent and water are safe cleaning agents for any microwave oven.

Specific directions beyond that depend on your particular model. Unfortunately, each manufacturer provides a different set of use and care instructions, so you can't necessarily just do what your neighbor does. It's important to read the directions, Caselman says.

Clean up splatters and spill-overs soon after they occur. They're easier to clean when fresh. And, over time, if there are enough splatters, they'll start absorbing the microwave energy away from the food you're cooking—so it will take longer to cook the food.

If you already have some cooked-on spots, here's the best way to remove them: Heat a cup of water to boiling inside the oven. Let it get good and steamy. Then, wipe the mess away.

If the oven's a little smelly, add a little lemon juice to this cup of water.

When you're not using the microwave oven, it's a good idea to keep a cup or dish of water in it—just in case someone accidentally turns it on. If it's turned on with nothing inside to absorb the energy, you could damage the motor.

Patio doors add enjoyment

For families fond of outdoor entertaining, patio doors are as natural as barbecues.

They provide convenient access to the outdoors and, when not in actual use, serve to make the outdoors a visual extension of the room. The most common patio door has one stationary panel and one operating panel, which can either slide or swing open.

You may wish to look for patio doors that have wood frames because wood is a natural insulator. Also, consider the benefits provided by factory-applied weatherstripping and double glazing.

The weatherstripping assures snug closure against the weather while the double glazing reduces heat loss through the glass area.

Available at local lumber yards, home centers and building supply stores in widths of 6, 8, 9 and 12 feet, many patio doors have a protective exterior cladding that all but eliminates the need for periodic painting. Precision-engineered locking devices and operating mechanisms assure snug closure as well as smooth and effortless movement.

Installation as a do-it-yourself project can be handled easily with ordinary carpentry tools. It may take two days to complete the installation—one to prepare the opening in the wall, the second to complete the operation.

MEXICAN FOOD can be as delicious as it is easy to prepare. Teenagers and dads love it and mom can be out of the kitchen fast with any of the related recipes shown below.

Muffin divan

- 2 cups chopped cooked chicken
  - 1 cup mushroom slices
  - 1/2 cup pimiento sauce
  - 1/2 cup mayonnaise
  - 2 tbsp. green onion slices
  - 2 tbsp. chopped green chilies
  - 3 English muffins, split, toasted
  - 1 cup chopped cooked broccoli
  - 6 thick slices process cheese, cut in half diagonally
- Combine chicken, mushrooms, pimiento sauce, mayonnaise, onions and chilies; mix lightly. Top muffin halves with chicken mixture and broccoli. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 350° for 10 minutes. Top with cheese. Continue baking until cheese begins to melt. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Chili con carne

- 1 tsp. oil
  - 1 cup sliced onion
  - 1 clove garlic, minced
  - 1 lb. lean chuck, cut in 1/2-inch cubes
  - 1/2 cup dark corn syrup
  - 3 tsp. chili powder
  - 1 tsp. cumin
  - 2 cans (16 oz. each) whole tomatoes
  - 2 cans (15 oz. each) red kidney beans
  - 1 can (15 oz.) pinto beans or light kidney beans
  - 1 can (4 oz.) whole green chilies, drained
- In 5-quart Dutch oven heat oil over medium-high heat. Add onion and garlic. Sauté 5 minutes. Remove from pan. Add beef, one-third at a time. Return onion and garlic to pan. Add corn syrup, chili powder and cumin. Stirring frequently, bring to boil. Stir in tomatoes, beans and chilies. Reduce heat. Simmer 1 to 2 hours or until thickened and meat is tender. Makes 12 servings.

Chicken tostadas

- 2 tostada shells
  - Shredded chicken
  - 1 can (5 oz.) chunk chicken
  - 2 tsp. taco sauce
  - Shredded cheddar cheese
  - Chopped onion
  - Diced green pepper
- To make each sandwich, top each tostada with lettuce, half the chicken and 1 tablespoon taco sauce. Garnish with cheese, onion and pepper. Makes 2 sandwiches.

Beef enchiladas

- 1 1/2 lb. lean ground beef
- 1 1/2 cups (6 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack cheese
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 cup chopped green onions
- 1 (4 oz.) can chopped mild green chilies, drained
- 1 tsp. beef instant bouillon
- 3 (8 oz.) cans tomato sauce
- 1 cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tsp. chili powder
- 1/2 tsp. sugar, if desired
- 1 tsp. cumin
- 10 (6 inch) flour tortillas or 12 (6 inch) corn tortillas

In large skillet, brown meat. Pour off fat. Stir in 1 cup cheese, sour cream, onions, half the chilies and 1 teaspoon bouillon. Set aside.

In medium saucepan, combine tomato sauce, remaining chilies, green pepper, remaining bouillon, chili powder, sugar and cumin. Simmer 10 minutes or until bouillon dissolves.

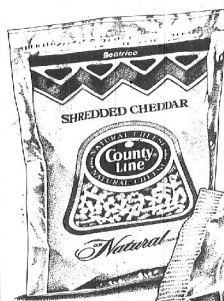

Soften tortillas according to package directions. Fill each with equal portions of meat mixture. Roll up.

Arrange in greased shallow 3-quart or 9-by-13 inch baking dish. Spoon tomato sauce over tortillas. Cover. Bake 20 minutes at 325°.

Uncover. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake 5 minutes longer. Garnish as desired. Serve with additional sour cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Quick, basic microwave meatballs for families

2 lb. lean ground chuck
 1 cup finely chopped onion
 1 egg
 3 tbs. fine dry bread crumbs
 1 tsp. finely chopped parsley
 1 tsp. salt
 1/2 tsp. pepper

Combine beef, onion, egg, bread crumbs, parsley, salt and pepper in a large mixing bowl. Mix lightly.

Shape into balls 1 to 1 1/2 inches in diameter.

Arrange 15 to 18 balls at a time on a microwave roasting rack in a 2-quart (12-by-8 inch) dish. Cover loosely with plastic wrap.

Cook at full power 6 to 7 minutes, or until meat is cooked as desired. Meatballs may need to be rearranged halfway through cooking time. Drain. Repeat with remaining meatballs.

Makes 30 to 36 meatballs.

To serve immediately, combine half the cooked meatballs with a sweet-sour sauce or spaghetti sauce to serve over hot cooked pasta or rice.

To freeze: Cool meatballs in refrigerator. Divide into two batches. Package each batch in heavy-duty plastic wrap. Seal, label and freeze.

To defrost and heat: Place 2 pints spaghetti or tomato sauce in a 2-quart casserole. Add meatballs. Cover loosely with plastic. Heat at full power 15 to 18 minutes, or until heated through. Serve over hot, cooked spaghetti.

Citrus warmer

In 2-quart saucepan stir together 3 cups grapefruit juice, 1/2 cup light corn syrup, 1/2 cup dark rum,

6 whole cloves and 1 (3-inch) cinnamon stick. Bring to boil over medium heat. Reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes. Remove cinnamon and cloves. Serve warm.

Scampi

4 cup garlic French or creamy garlic salad dressing
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 lb. shrimp, cleaned
Blend dressing with lemon juice. Arrange shrimp on broiler pan without rack and spoon on dressing mixture.
Broil 5 to 7 minutes, turning once and basting with dressing.
If desired, sprinkle with chopped parsley.
Makes about 3 servings.

Lemon drops

4 pork loin or rib chops, cut 1-inch thick
1/2 cup frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed
1/2 cup currant jelly
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 tsp. dry mustard
Lemon slices, if desired
Place pork chops on rack of broiler pan.
In saucepan, combine lemonade concentrate, currant jelly, brown sugar and dry mustard. Stir. Boil 2 minutes. Cool slightly.
Brush chops with sauce. Broil 4 to 5 inches from heat, 12 to 15 minutes per side. Brush with sauce before turning and brush second side with sauce.
If desired, place lemon slices on each chop 3 to 4 minutes before end of broiling time. Brush with sauce.

From convenient approaches in Illinois, Eads Bridge places the automobile driver at the heart of Downtown St. Louis.

NOW.....THERE'S A BETTER WAY TO TRAVEL.....BETWEEN ILLINOIS COMMUNITIES AND DOWNTOWN ST. LOUIS

Keep your eye on "new" EADS BRIDGE

When EADS BRIDGE opened more than 100 years ago, it provided the only fast, safe way across the Mississippi River.
But as vehicular traffic continually increased, new bridges were built and by 1986 these bridges became virtual parking lots. EADS BRIDGE, however, is once again coming to the rescue as the fastest, easiest way to get across the river.
Extensive repairs have been made to EADS BRIDGE, and other repairs, including resurfacing, are scheduled for this Spring.
To further speed traffic along this fast, direct route between communities along the East side of the Mississippi River and St. Louis four modern toll collection stations have been installed—two in each direction.
Use of modernized EADS BRIDGE will benefit those living in Illinois communities from Alton to Belleville along the Mississippi, as well as users of Interstate Highways 55, 70, 64 and Illinois Rt. 3.

So don't stand in long lines of traffic to cross the Mississippi. After all, it's estimated that even after a minimal toll a typical EADS BRIDGE user may daily save a dollar in gasoline expense and as much as 20 minutes time in each direction.
Why not get acquainted with world-famous EADS BRIDGE. Save time, money and your nerves. Let an old friend put more economy and leisure in your life. Enter St. Louis at the foot of Washington Avenue right at the heart of the shopping and business centers. Here ample parking is available and easy access to the Interstate Highways.
Keep your eye on "new" EADS BRIDGE as extensive modernization work is completed.

Tangy chicken and yams

1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts
1/2 cup flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. pepper
4 tbsp. oil
2 large yams, peeled, cut in 1/2-inch slices
Glaze
In plastic bag, mix together flour, salt, paprika and pepper. Add chicken, 3 pieces at a time, shaking to coat.

In large frypan, heat oil to medium temperature. Add chicken and cook, turning, about 10 minutes or until brown on all sides.
In large shallow baking pan, place chicken, skin-side up. Place yams around chicken. Pour oil from frypan over yam slices.
Cover with foil. Bake in 350° oven 40 minutes. Uncover and bake 10 minutes longer.

Spoon glaze over chicken and yams. Bake about 10 minutes more, or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease and yams are tender. Remove from oven.
Broil about 8 inches from heat about 5 minutes or until bubbling and crusty.
Makes 4 servings.

Flavorful biscuits top chicken a la king

1 cup margarine or butter
1 cup flour
1 (16 oz.) can chicken broth
2 cups milk
2 cups cubed, cooked chicken
1 cup frozen peas, thawed
4 oz. (1 cup) shredded cheddar cheese
1/2 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
1 (2 oz.) jar chopped pimiento
1 (7.5 oz.) can refrigerated biscuits
1/2 to 1 tsp. parsley flakes

In medium saucepan, melt margarine. Stir in flour. Cook until mixture is smooth and bubbly. Gradually add chicken broth and milk. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture boils and thickens.

Add chicken, peas,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup cheese, mushrooms and all but 1 tablespoon pimiento. Heat until bubbly. Reduce heat and simmer, stirring occasionally.

Meanwhile, separate dough into 10 biscuits. Make a 1-inch diameter impression in each biscuit, leaving a  $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch rim around the edge.

In small bowl, combine  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup reserved cheese, 1 tablespoon reserved pimiento and parsley flakes. Place heaping teaspoon of cheese mixture in each biscuit.

Chicken and biscuits

For a quick and easy way to dress up a one-dish meal, add a hearty biscuit topping. Baked right on a casserole mixture, a crown of biscuits makes an attractive finishing touch, while adding nutrition and good flavor.

Chicken and Biscuit A La King updates an old favorite with a colorful topping of filled biscuits. Simple chicken stew starts with leftover chicken or cooked meat purchased at the deli case. Peas and fresh mushrooms add extra flavor to the creamy chicken mixture.

To save time, this recipe uses economical refrigerated biscuits for the topping. A small indentation is pressed into each refrigerated biscuit, then filled with a colorful mixture of parsley, pimiento and cheese.

Pour hot mixture into 2-quart casserole. Top with filled biscuits. Bake at 375° for 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

Granola

1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 tsp. water
1/2 tsp. vanilla
3 cups oats, uncooked
1 cup chopped unsalted peanuts
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup dark raisins

In small saucepan, combine brown sugar, butter, water and vanilla. Heat, stirring until blended.

In large mixing bowl, combine oats, peanuts and cinnamon. Pour brown sugar mixture over oats.

mixture. Toss to coat well. Spread oats mixture on 15-by-10 inch jellyroll pan. Bake 45 minutes, stirring every 15 minutes, at 325°.

When cool, add raisins. Makes 5 1/2 cups granola.

Key to slower aging is sought

Evidence linking brain chemistry to aging and susceptibility to cancer and other diseases has been uncovered by researchers at the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

The investigators have found that an inadequate number of brain cell receptors, which play a vital part in processing information that comes to the brain through the senses, may promote premature aging and make a person more vulnerable to disease, including cancer.

This discovery has prompted the scientific team to theorize that stimulating an increase in the receptors could make humans

"more immune to the deleterious effects of aging."

"If our hypothesis is correct, that cell receptors do influence the aging process, then we might consider ways of increasing their formation in humans before birth as a way of making persons more immune to cancer, infection and other degenerative effects of aging. In theory, we would be prolonging life," said Thaddeus Marczyński, a pharmacologist who led the scientific team.

Receptors are chemical spots on cells that react to other natural and foreign molecules in the body. In addition to their role in the brain, receptors regulate the body's natural defense system against disease and ensure the normal functioning of the central nervous and cardiovascular systems.

The UIC researchers "stumbled" on this relationship between cell receptors and aging while studying the effects of sedative drugs like diazepam (Valium) on the brain chemistry of rats.

The offspring of pregnant rats exposed to the drugs were found to have nearly 50 percent fewer brain cell receptors at one year of age and exhibited constant stress and anxiety, had learning disabilities — they could not find their way through a maze, for example — and did not sleep well, Marczyński said.

Between 12 and 18 months of life, a span equivalent to 30 or 40 years in humans, these rodents when compared to normal animals showed signs of advanced hardening of the arteries in the brain, lungs, kidneys and heart; were more likely to develop tumors; were abnormally susceptible to infections; and sustained other degenerative changes affecting the liver, spleen and reproductive organs.

In effect, the rats underwent premature aging. Their sleep patterns were similar to those of the elderly. Their immune systems were less vigorous in warding off disease, and other organs showed evidence of deterioration associated with growing old, Marczyński said.

Apparently, the ability of the sedative drugs to stimulate cell receptors in the developing fetus can "fool" the homeostatic mechanism, the process whereby the body attains proper biochemical balances. "The brain is given the impression that enough receptors have been formed and it shuts down the process," Marczyński said.

"Our suspicion is that this deficiency of receptors is not limited to brain cells, but applies to cells in other bodily organs, including the blood," he said.

"Without receptors, white blood cells responsible for regulating the immune system cannot locate and repair tissue damaged by viruses, bacteria, chemicals and other factors. Living tissue constantly needs repair; if the repair is left undone or is inadequate, aging is accelerated."

Marczyński and Patrick Swann, a graduate student working for a doctoral degree in pharmacology, will be conducting further studies to investigate the role of brain cell receptors in regulating behavior and the aging process.

Gerline Wyatt notes 80th birthday

Gerline Wyatt was honored on her 80th birthday with a recent celebration at the Salvation Army Corps Community Center, where she and several family members have been active members for many years.

A total of 100 guests attended the observance, which included a buffet supper.

Hostesses were Mrs. Wyatt's daughters, Mrs. Maxine Rutter, Salvation Army office coordinator, and Mrs. Arthur (Frances) Rossi, both of Granite City, Mrs. Betty Lewis of Clearwater, Fla., and Mrs. Shirley Nolan of Vanleer, Tenn., and grandchildren.

Among the evening's highlights was a joint effort by Mrs. Wyatt and her great-grandchildren, who gathered around the serving table to help extinguish the 80 candles on her two-tier birthday cake.

The decorated cake, adorned with red roses, was baked by Sandra Payne, a granddaughter of the honoree.

Mrs. Wyatt expressed appreciation and great happiness that "so many relatives and friends cared enough to come and help celebrate the occasion."

The honoree resides at 1004 Reynolds St., Madison. She is a longtime member of the Salvation Army Home League and has 13 grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Seniors travel more for less

Senior citizens are the most active pleasure travelers in the United States. The experience can be an enlightening and pleasurable adventure — and one where you can travel more and pay less.

Because you have the luxury of time — control over your own time and a flexibility about when you can travel — you can find remarkable savings in just about every area in travel. If you're willing to do a bit of work in order to travel, you can find even more advantages — even cost-free travel.

How might your travel more for less? Here are some suggestions.

Travel Off-Season: Rates are lower in the off-season, crowds are reduced, and tour operators, hotels and even airlines have more time for your personal service. In cruising and tours, you can look at the in-season fares as a point of reference and then jump to the "value season" or "shoulder season" calendars and schedules to find the lower prices.

Travel Off-Days: Many business-traveler hotels offer discounts of 50 percent for weekend visitors; many high-weekend business hotels offer major discounts for Sunday through Thursday nights. Look for these and if you can arrange your schedule accordingly, you can find real savings.

Check Into Amtrak: America's passenger railroad has some new discounts off its AllAboard America fares — savings of $25 to $50 for almost unlimited travel in two or more regions. And, check, too, for brand-new discounts for round-trip travel.

If the single-ticket pricing is more advantageous for the trip you plan you may find that the return ticket is only $7 — the special pricing is available on many of the Amtrak routes now. There are restrictions, of course, to the discounted All Aboard America and special round-trip discount rates, but the opportunity is well worth investigating with your travel agent. The special fares are valid through May 31, 1986.

Create a Group: Many local travel groups are created by people such as yourself who volunteer to develop a group of 15 to 40 ticket-paying passengers to earn a cost-free ticket on the same tour. Some travel agents work with senior citizens who develop such groups on a one-time or continuing basis, and the agency handles all of the professional details, arrangements and ticketing. The actual tour operators and travel companies provide the free ticket for the tour escort or promoter in most every case.

For senior citizens who enjoy public contact, public speaking and working with people, this can prove to be an almost-free travel opportunity.

Be a Tour Guide: Travel clubs and many travel agencies welcome active older adults as tour escorts or guides. You need to be an expert on the destination to serve as a guide, but to be an escort you should be a good manager, positive in your ability to work with people, and be able to handle details and itineraries.

Your role as the operator's manager or representative is to assure that the tour works well, to handle special requests and arrangements and to hear (and correct, if possible) passenger complaints.

Young and old aid Illinois conservation

All three components of the Conservation Department's new youth employment program, the Illinois Conservation Corps (ICC), are gearing up for their schedules of 1986 projects, Steve Gonzalez, head of the ICC division, said. Senior citizens also are joining in this year.

The three components are the Young Adult Corps, Youth Corps and Summer Youth Employment Grant program. The Young Adult Corps already has started some of its projects, Gonzalez said.

In addition, ICC is forming a fourth unit, a pilot program that will seek to hire 25 persons 55 years of age or older.

ICC was created by the General Assembly and Gov. James Thompson last year as a statewide DOC (Department of Conservation) program employing young people between 16 and 18 years of age for summer work in its Youth Corps unit and providing full-time, year-round jobs for persons 18 through 25 years of age in its Young Adult Corps.

Members of both units will work on DOC lands at park rehabilitation, wildlife habitat improvement, disaster relief, and at conservation-oriented and natural resource management tasks. They will receive $3.35 per hour.

The Summer Youth Employment Grant program was added later to encourage local government agencies to hire workers in the 16-18 age bracket. The youths will remove brush, parks, trails, playgrounds, park shelters and community boulevards; construct trails, shelters, erosion control facilities, bank stabilization installations and accommodations for handicapped persons; and plant trees and shrubs.

Gonzalez said the more than 500 Youth Corps members are reporting to their bases on June 9.

Fun at the CIRCUS

The 20th edition of the Ainad Temple's Shrine Circus was again quite a crowd pleaser. Of course, with lions, tigers, elephants, horses, trapeze artists, balancing acts, juggling acts, high wire acts and clowns how could it not be anything but.

From wolfhounds and pomeranians performing various canine tricks to three rings of horses performing precision maneuvers to the zany antics of clowns of every description — there's something for everyone, young or old.

Proceeds from the circus are used to offset the operating expenses of the 19 Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children and three Burns Units. Since the first hospital opened in 1922, more than 300,000 children have been treated at no expense to their families. The Shriners is one of the world's largest philanthropic organizations.

GC Optimists open at home with 13-0 win

By Dave Whaley

GRANITE CITY — Anybody who was worried about the Granite City Optimists Junior Legion team's ability to hit the ball should be relieved by now.

The Optimists continued an early-season hitting binge here Saturday afternoon with a 13-0 shellacking of the Dupo Post 485 Junior Legion team.

Scott LeVault and Tim Patterson provided the muscle with back-to-back home runs in a five-run third inning, while righthander Darin Hendrickson took care of the Dupo bats in a game mercifully stopped after 4½ innings because of the 10-run rule.

"We've still got a ways to go before we're real good," said Optimists manager Paul Kacera. "But we will hit the ball this year. I know that."

It was certainly easy to tell against an overmatched Dupo squad. Post 485 has no players on the team with any varsity experience, and most of the players are freshmen.

The turning point of the game probably came in the early afternoon when Varsity Field, soaked from Friday's rain, was transformed into a field suitable for use. The work delayed the game from its scheduled 1 p.m. start by an hour, but that wasn't enough for Dupo.

Hendrickson, who pitched some on the varsity level at Granite City this season, struck out two as he retired the side in order in the Dupo first inning.

Granite City immediately went to work on Dupo starting pitcher Rick Bayer in their half of the first.

Center fielder Randy Chapman singled to left and stole second. Kirk Mills then singled up the middle, and Chapman brought home, as it turned out, the only run Hendrickson would need. But the Optimists were far from finished.

Shortstop Charlie Collins was hit by a pitch, and with one out Patterson doubled to deep left field.

Mills scored and Collins stopped at third.

But the Granite City runner was caught leaning when Bayer picked him off third. He was finally tagged in the ensuing rundown by shortstop Virgil Moore. Patterson moved up to third base during the rundown.

Left fielder Rich Wilson then grounded to Moore, but his throw was over the head of first baseman Steve Diel, and Patterson brought home the third run of the inning.

Dupo's woes continued when catcher Mike Dudley overthrew Bayer on a return throw to the mound. The ball went into center field as Wilson moved to second. Hendrickson made them pay with his hit, scoring Wilson to make it 4-0. Hendrickson, however, was thrown out trying to go to second when the ball was cut off.

Hendrickson set down the first eight batters he faced before Travis Tutor reached on a throwing error by Collins with two outs in the third. But Travis Bucherich fanned to end that inning.

After a quiet second inning for Granite City, they put the game away in the third. Collins reached when third baseman John Daab couldn't handle his grounder, and he went to second on an error by left fielder Eric Thomas.

He was able to trot home when LeVault hit a towering shot down the left field line which crept over the 302-foot mark in the corner for a home run to make it 6-0.

Patterson then followed with a drive over the head of center fielder Len Aldridge. He appeared to be pulling into third base with a triple when he was waved home. Bucherich momentarily fumbled the relay and Patterson scored easily on an inside-the-park homer.

"Be sure to put that down as a home run," Patterson said laughing after the game. "I was a little tired when I got to third, but I kept going."

Diel came in to pitch at that point, but the lefthander couldn't find the plate, walking Wilson. Hendrickson, Dave Bamber and Chapman to force in the eighth.

East boys, West girls fall short

What could have been a week of joyous celebration in Belleville will instead be a look back at what might have been after two Belleville teams fell short of state titles over the weekend.

The Belleville East boys lost 6-2 to eventual state champion Barrington in the Illinois Class AA High School championship semifinals Saturday morning, while the Belleville West girls lost an eight-inning heart-breaker, 2-1, to Cicero in the championship game of the Class AA softball finals on Saturday.

At Springfield, the Lancers were victims of a Barrington team which hit 65 home runs during the regular season. Starting pitcher Keith Noreen started the scoring with a two-run homer off Rich Lockwood of the Lancers in the first inning.

The Broncos extended their lead to 5-0 before Rick Schroeder connected for a two-run double in the fourth. In the sixth inning, the Lancers got Noreen out of the game when they put their first two men on base, but Dan Wilson relieved and got a strikeout and a double play to end the threat.

The Lancers finished the year at 30-8.

In the championship game, Mark Levin drove in five runs to lead the Broncos to the title with a 12-2 win over Chicago Fenger. Barrington scored seven runs in the fifth inning to win the game, as it was called at that point because of the 10-run rule.

The state tournament was marred by rain, which forced the postponement of two of Thursday's quarterfinal games.

Celtics' title yet another sign of return to good 'ol days

New York will win the World Series this fall.

Yes, sometime near the end of October, the citizens of the Big Apple will gather in Times Square for a celebration in honor of the local favorites marching away the world championship of baseball.

It's inevitable, isn't it?

The only thing is, it won't be the Mets. While Dave Johnson's gang has taken hold of the National League East race with a grip as firm as the Boston Strangler, they won't do it. They might win the division. They probably will, in fact.

But, come October, it will be their neighbors in the Bronx who will have the last laugh. Get ready for another autumn of George Steinbrenner and Co. Who knows, Billy Martin might even be back by then.

The New York Yankees, World Series champions, 1986. There is just no way to get around it. This has to be the Yankees' year. Our country has always been fond of nostalgia. Why do you think "Happy Days" was such a hit on TV for so long? We yearn for the days of yesteryear when times supposedly were simpler.

Now, it seems, the sports world is in the midst of its own nostalgia craze.

so. You'll find yourself stepping into some sort of athletic time capsule.

The Oklahoma Sooners used to always win the national championship in college football, or so it seemed. But they hadn't lately, until this past season.

The Chicago Bears used to be the most feared and respected team in the National Football League. They won seven of NFL titles. But they hadn't lately, until this past season.

Willie Shoemaker used to always ride home on the back of the Kentucky Derby winner. The legendary jockey was always in the Winner's Circle at Churchill Downs. But he hadn't been there lately, until last month.

Jack Nicklaus used to fill his closet with green jackets from his many victories at the Masters golf tournament in Augusta, Ga. The Golden Bear with the Green Jacket was a familiar site. But he hadn't won the Masters lately, until he did it again in April.

SIU's Graham to help with GCC camps

Four St. Louis area college basketball coaches will be teaching different techniques during a one-week camp at Granite City Campus.

The camp will be held from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. daily from June 23-27 at the GCC gymnasium, 4950 Maryville Road.

There is a limit of 20 players for the camp, geared for high school-age players expecting to attend college.

Cost is $100 per player. Persons may register by calling Granite City Campus at 931-0600 before 5 p.m. or 876-6763 after 6 p.m.

"The purpose of this camp is instructional, but it also provides a forum for college coaches to be exposed to local high school talent and for high school players to be exposed to college coaches," said GCC basketball coach Terry Collins.

Coaches attending the camp, their topics and the day they will visit are as follows:

- Larry Graham, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, full-court and pressure defenses on June 23.
- Rich Meckfessel, University of Missouri at St. Louis, half-court offense, June 24.
- Rich Graver, St. Louis University, half-court defenses, June 25.
- Mark Edwards, Washington University, transition offense, June 26.

Players will put together all concepts of the game during the last day of the camp.

Baker camp filling up; openings remain

Gene Baker will hold his annual Warrior Kicker Camp on June 16-20.

The camp will meet for five days from 9 a.m. until noon at the Quad Cities Soccer Association Complex located behind Prather Elementary School.

The camp is open for boys and girls ages 7 through 18. The cost is $60.

Send checks to 1761 Vista Ridge, St. Louis, Mo., 63138. For additional information, call 314-355-2374.

SLU slates soccer camps

Billiken coaches Joey Clark and Tom Howe, and St. Louis Steamers Assistant Coach Tony Glavin will co-direct two overnight soccer camps at St. Louis University.

A camp for select boys age 12-18 will be held from June 8-13.

On July 13-18, a camp for boys age 18 and under is planned.

For more information, call 314-658-3184 or write 3672 West Pine Blvd., St. Louis, Mo., 63108.

Belleville

To Friday morning. The semifinals, originally set for Friday, were pushed back to Saturday, with the title game played Saturday night.

In Pekin, the girls tournament also was played between the raindrops, and the Belleville West Maroons almost came away with the brass ring.

Morton High of Cicero got a run in the eighth inning against Maroon pitcher Dana Mareshe to win the state title with a record of 38-0. West finished at 37-7.

That run was the only earned run Mareshe allowed in the tournament. She had a one-hit shutout in the quarterfinals and an 11-inning effort in the semifinals when she allowed only one unearned run. She was named the tournament's most valuable player.

The Maroons trailed 1-0 going into the seventh inning, but tied the game on an error by Debbie Smith, a sacrifice bunt and a squeeze bunt by Elaine Elser.

But in the eighth, Mareshe walked Pam Bodzioch and threw a wild pitch. With one out, Sharon Talach hit a double to deep left field to win the game.

Optimists

bases with a drive to deep center, but Aldridge made a good running catch.

Hendrickson's chance for a no-hitter ended when Dined, lined a single just in front of a diving Jay Valbert in right field to start the fourth inning. Dudley walked and Moore reached on an error by Paterson to fill the bases with only one out, but Hendrickson fanned Aldridge and Daab. He had nine strikeouts in the game.

Granite City fired its final salvo in the fourth on RBI hit by Hendrickson, a two-run double by Bamber and a run-scoring hit by Mills, his third RBI of the game.

The win improved the Optimists' record to 3-0. They won a doubleheader on Wednesday in Troy. LeVault was the winning pitcher in the 8-2 triumph in the opener, while Mike Georgeoff got the win in the 11-6 nightcap.

The Optimists' game at Alton against the Alton Optimists team was rained out. They were scheduled to play at Highland Tuesday night before hosting Freeburg in a 1 p.m. game Saturday at Varsity Field.

Fishing a waiting game

By Larry Bulus
Staff writer

The bluegill have a lot of good points in their favor. They're plentiful, fairly easy to catch, fight like the dickens for their size and make excellent table fare. Taken on a light fly rod, they offer superlative sport, and on a good pond or lake you get the kind of constant action unknown in any other kind of fishing.

The Montgomery County farm pond I was fishing - perhaps four acres - has always had a good population of these panfish. Though not monsters, they average a nice size, going between seven and eight inches.

This cloudy afternoon I'd been fishing only an hour or so and was quickly filling the stringer tied to my belt with about all the fish I cared to clean.

Just one more spot to fish, I thought, as I waded along, and I'll head back to the car and drive to an old bass lake I occasionally fish. Such a cloudy, brooding day was made to order for topwater bass fishing. There'd be precious few of them through the summer months.

I finally staggered ashore, fly rod in one hand and string of bluegill in the other, and waded the bank for 60 yards before easing back into the water 50 feet from the pond's northwest corner. A colony of bluegill were in residence here every year in late May. My first cast met with a swirl and a hooked fish. Thereafter, the little six and a half foot fly rod danced and bowed to the tune of eight more fish before I called it quits.

Forty-five minutes later I was wading into another pond, this time armed with a casting rod sporting a Zara Spook, a hot new plug. This old pond and I have been friends for 25 years.

I alternated my casts to both deep water moss beds farther out and cattails along shore. With bass spawning season mostly over, I had more faith in the deeper water. But a cast projected to the cattails brought an explosion under the Zara Spook that fairly lifted my hat. But the fish missed the lure and wouldn't come back for an encore. I fished a spinnerbait, a Nip-I-Diddle and again the Zara over that fish without a response so I marked that spot in my memory and waded around it so as not to disturb the fish. I would try again a couple hours later before leaving.

Farther down the bank I saw a swirl off the cattails and when I waded to within casting range I sent the Zara past the spot. The plastic entangler hadn't been there twice when a husky bass shredded the surface in a white-water explosion. I got no play from that fish, for it burrowed down in cattail moss and I cranked in the whole glob and dug out my bass, a three and a quarter pounder, with the Zara stuck crosswise in its mouth.

I spent the next two hours rambling over the farm, fishing a couple of other ponds, and catching just one more bass that pounced on the Zara at the mouth of a mossy cove.

I hiked along the edge of a newly-planted cornfield, crossed a field of chest-high weeds, and on another 200 yards to the first pond for another try at the big bass I'd initially raised.

It was nearly 8 p.m., the sky heavily overcast, the water glassy calm. I slipped into the water well away from where the big bass lived and waited along with the stealth of a stalking heron. I might not get that lunker to strike again but if so it wouldn't be because I'd spooked him with a noisy approach.

The big bass had struck just out from a clump of cattails that formed a small point, a choice location for a bass to lay in wait for prey. I checked the Zara's hooks for sharpness then sent the lure on a low arch 10 feet past the cattails. Dropping the rod tip within inches of the water's surface, I began working the lure in that hip-switching, eye-crossing manner unique to that bait. When the lure crossed the strike zone, I tensed, held my breath, and kept the lure "walking".

Three feet past the cattails the old largemouth roared to the surface in a water-shattering explosion and this time seized the Zara firmly. I leaned back heavily on the rod, cranked a little line, and leashed back into another hook-set. The bass reacted by leaping above the water's surface, its head shaking wildly trying to rid itself of that stinging object that a moment before seemed an easy meal.

Then the fish ploved for the cover of the cattails, putting up a wave like a miniature submarine. But I put pressure on the rod and line to keep the fish in open water. Then it made a run for deeper water. I gave the fish line but managed to turn it back my way just short of a thick clump of cattail moss. Once again it burst through the water's surface, but it was tiring and could lift only half its body above the water. At length, I worked the fish in close and, fearful of grabbing it by the lower jaw because of the lure's treble hooks, I grasped the fish firmly at the bottom of all fins.

Like a kid with his prize, I sloshed back to shore and made straight for the car and my pocket scales. The bass weighed about a half under six pounds, topping off an already great day.

Pros give pointers to golfers

Hale Irwin wants to place a golf club in the hands of every area youngster who wants to learn about the game.

Irwin and about 40 members of the Gateway Professional Golfers' Association (PGA) will be hosts of "Clubs For Kids" Tuesday, June 17. The program at Busker Park in South County (I-44 and Hwy. 141) begins at 9 a.m.

"Clubs For Kids" consists of a free golf demonstration, a PGA clinic and individualized instruction by Gateway PGA professionals. Junior golfers from 5 to 17 years of age will receive a club, visor and rule book. And it's all free.

The event is co-sponsored by the Gateway PGA, Pepsi Cola and the Suburban Journals.

Youngsters must complete the accompanying registration form to be eligible to participate in the "Clubs For Kids" program.

On the day of the event, registration will be at 9 a.m., the PGA clinic at 10 a.m., and individual instruction at 11 a.m. Irwin will host the clinic.

Greg Marschel, executive director of the Gateway PGA, said the "Clubs For Kids" program originated with the PGA Tour professionals.

"The program was initiated by the PGA Tour, which asked the local pros to help promote junior golf in their own community," Marschel said. "The big thing about this event is that every kid gets a club and an individual lesson from a PGA pro. Plus, it's all free."

Tom Marschel, national advertising director for the Suburban Journals, says it's an honor to sponsor the program. "The Journals is part of the community, and we see this as a tremendous opportunity to acquaint youngsters with the sport of golf and to allow them to rub elbows with the pros," Marschel said.

Granite Sheet Metal drops two

The Granite Sheet Metal Junior Legion team saw its record drop to 3-2 over the weekend with two losses in Missouri.

Granite lost on Saturday afternoon to Johnny Mac at Mehlville High School, 13-3. Mike Krausz was the losing pitcher for Granite City.

On Sunday evening, the team lost at Creve Coeur 6-3, despite only two hits by the Creve Coeur team. John Moad took the loss for Granite City in that game.

Granite Sheet Metal was scheduled to play Manchester at Maryville College Tuesday night before playing again at Varsity Field Thursday night, at 7:30 p.m., game against Gardenville/Afton. They then play Florissant at St. Ferdinand Park Saturday night.

July 6, 1986: Arthur Ashe rises from the ashes to win the finals at Wimbledon from Ivan Lendl in straight sets.

July 15, 1986: Sam Snead shoots a 64 on the final day to capture the U.S. Open, after Tom Kite blows a four-stroke lead.

Jan. 1, 1987: The championship of college football returns to a familiar location—South Bend, Ind.—when Lou Holtz takes the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame to their first national title in 10 years by whipping Alabama 27-6 in the Sugar Bowl.

Jan. 25, 1987: Almost 20 years to the day after Super Bowl I, the Green Bay Packers duplicate the game with a 35-10 win over the Kansas City Chiefs. The Pack made it to the Super Bowl by edging the Dallas Cowboys 21-17 in the NFC Championship Game in Green Bay Jan. 11 with the temperature 15 below zero, with a wind chill factor of 63 below. Bart Starr comes out of retirement to score the winning touchdown on a quarterback sneak with 13 seconds left.

May 24, 1987: A.J. Foyt captures his fifth Indianapolis crown, and his first since 1977, with a six-second victory over Al Unser Jr.

Ah, these are the good ol' days.
